The documentation made it a bit complicated to get to the point where we could use it and we also couldn't just run the setup program straight away. I'm also not an expert on the right way to set up MIDI devices so I decided to search the web for a better introduction to how to do it. I found an article at gitter.im which explained how to set up and use the device. It's a shame that the source code isn't available in the article itself but here's the link to the script. A few notes on the script: It uses python 2.7 which is available in ubuntu 12.04 and newer versions of ubuntu. You should do a'sudo apt-get install python-imaging' to get the needed modules
